

Detailed learning statement

- Undertake my dreamed compagny, more precisely, an incubator of web projects.
In order to archieve it, I should strongly develop product manager related skills
- I ideally work on subjects by dividing days by odd and even.
- I usually fight frustration moments by making other things. I could dive into language learning while I got frustrated, it would help me kept away from frustration.
An other possibility is to find fellow to call when i am get frustrated.

In order to undertake my compagny with success and less possibles difficulties, since it makes a long time from now that I am planning it, I know an approximative list of the skills I need to accumulate. The list contain: GOOGLE's techs for marketing, environment development skills (IDEs, OSs, APIs, webdev's Softwares) for development speed, and of course mastering languages (English and Japanese at least).

Goal n°1:

Undertake my dreamed compagny by starting with creating blogs, then ecommerces.

Goal n°2:

Master my development environment, and show myself pro-active until the complete success of this goal.

Goal n°3:

Master GOOGLE's techs with the help of three way 1 google's tutorials & certifications, 2 the marketing compagny called Mindfruits I am working in now

Goal n°4:

Pass the Toeic exam by June 2020. Take courses as soon as possible to aim this goal.

Goal n°5:

Succeed with great success my openclassrooms course.
